

ORGANIZING YOUR FAMILY LEGACY

About the Authors

Edward C. Meyers is Co-founder and CEO of Ape Press, LLC, a consulting firm specializing in legacy planning and organization. After facing a pair of pivotal life events, Edward, together with Co-founder and President, Sharon K. Nick, created the company's flagship product, "Organizing Your Family Legacy: A Practical Action Plan for Those You Leave Behind."

Edward, a talented management consultant, entrepreneur, and engineer left corporate America to become a caregiver for his wife and subsequently for his sister. While his wife was ill, Edward meticulously managed her daily care as well as personal finances and legal issues. But it wasn't until the day she passed away that he realized how unprepared they were... and how it would affect him and other surviving family members. As he endured the pain and anguish of losing his life partner of 40 years, he and his family were burdened with numerous unwelcomed, uncomfortable and stressful decisions that needed to be made quickly.

After suffering through this incredibly painful experience "that nobody should have to endure," Edward was determined to create an informative, easy, step-by-step action plan to help individuals and their families get organized. Those who have used his action plan call it "invaluable." Ed adds, "This is truly a gift of love for those who are left behind."

Sharon K. Nick is Co-founder and President of Ape Press, LLC, a firm specializing in legacy planning and organization. Together with Co-founder and CEO, Edward C. Meyers, she created the company's flagship product, "Organizing Your Family Legacy: A Practical Action Plan for Those You Leave Behind." This user-friendly program features a simple, step-by-step roadmap to help individuals prepare and organize for the unexpected.

After several years as a leading New York City real estate agent and entrepreneur, Sharon left the bustling business world to be a caregiver for her mother, and then again for her aunt and her uncle. As Sharon navigated the world of aging family members, she began to understand the burden that family members would assume when loved ones did not document their wishes.

Sharon pinpointed the need for a clear road map – a plan relevant for every family -- to create a family legacy and organize all necessary information in one location. Her vision was to create an actionable program to simplify the task of organizing family finances, personal property, insurance policies, and personal wishes. Everything prepared. No guessing required. The organized family legacy was the most thoughtful, loving gift that family members could receive.
